

Handa wanted to surprise her friend Akeyo with a basket of fruit. First she collected a passion fruit. Then collected a papaya and mango. Off she went to Akeyo's house.

Then the gentle giraffe snatched the ripe papaya. The giraffe gobbled it up in one bite. Handa kept walking.

Next the fierce lion stole the exotic passion fruit. Handa did not notice and carried on walking along the path.

After that the speedy cheetah took the juicy mango. He dashed back to his pride. Handa's basket was empty.

Suddenly a goat escaped from a field. He crashed into the tall tree and he knocked all the juicy oranges into Handa's basket.

Finally Handa reached Akayo's house, and she noticed that her basket was full of oranges. What a surprise for Handa!
