Flounder and Flipper were the most colourful and most adventurous fish you could ever meet. They were small, but they had big dreams. They were best friends, and they did everything together. Flounder was a beautiful fish with swirling rainbow patterns on his scales and a shimmering, silver tail. Flipper was a funny looking fish. He had a yellow body covered in orange and purple spots and one fin that was slightly smaller than the other. This sometimes meant he swam a little slower than his fishy pals, but it never stopped him from being a part of the fun. Their home was in the pretty coral reef. The friends had never left the coral reef because they knew they were not allowed.
