

Watch the clip on youtube:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1y8aYd9uqFY>

Engage

Which story is it from?

What is happening in the video?

This half term in English we are learning all about

Engage

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory

WALT recognise SPaG features

Remember to:

1. Watch the clip
2. Read the WAGOLL
3. Find and underline the SPaG features in the WAGOLL
4. Write an example of each feature from the WAOLL text

Introduce

(5 mins)

A setting is...

Where the story takes place.

Describes where they are.

What they can see, hear, touch, smell and feel?

What is this setting going to be about?

Consider &
Practise

You need to:

- Read the WAGOLL.
- Find the SPAG features
- Decide if there is anything else you will need to include for a setting description

SPaG Features:

Can you spot any SpaG features?
Underline them in different colours.

- Questions
- command sentences
- exclamation sentences
- apostrophes for omission
- suffixes
- compound sentences (co-ordinating conjunctions)
- complex sentences (subordinating conjunctions)
- expanded noun phrases
- commas in a list
- possessive apostrophes

As the large metal door slowly swung open, I felt my jaw drop to the floor in amazement. My eyes gazed upon the wondrous sight in front of me. I carefully tiptoed forward onto the sweet blades of jewelled grass, and smelt the aroma of alluring candy flowers.

"Stay close." the voice of Willy Wonka echoed through the silent hall. Hanging on the crystallised trees were sour leaves covered in a sugar coating which glistened in the light. I couldn't help but wonder if we could sample the delights. Suddenly we were given our instructions and we were free to explore. How exciting it was!

The flower's petals were made of a delicious sherbet, but they fizzed marvellously on my tongue. I quickly went from place to place because I wanted to munch the variety on offer. The tree stumps tasted delicious with strawberry, blackcurrant and cherry flavours. In the distance the sound of joyful singing could be heard. Who could it have been?

Independent

Record an example of each SPaG feature from the WAGOLL text onto the template:

Deepening

As the large metal door slowly swung open, I felt my jaw drop to the floor in amazement. My eyes gazed upon the wondrous sight in front of me. I carefully tiptoed forward onto the sweet blades of jewelled grass, and smelt the aroma of alluring candy flowers.

"Stay close." the voice of Willy Wonka echoed through the silent hall. Hanging on the crystallised trees were sour leaves covered in a sugar coating which glistened in the light. I couldn't help but wonder if we could sample the delights. Suddenly we were given our instructions and we were free to explore. How exciting it was!

The flower's petals were made of a delicious sherbet, but they fizzed marvellously on my tongue. I quickly went from place to place because I wanted to munch the variety on offer. The tree stumps tasted delicious with strawberry, blackcurrant and cherry flavours. In the distance the sound of joyful singing could be heard. Who could it have been?

SPaG Detective:

Circle an example of capital letters and full stops

Expanded noun phrase:

Compound sentence (co-ordinating conjunction):

Complex sentence (subordinating conjunction):

Question sentence:

Exclamation sentence:

Command sentence:

Suffixes:

Apastrophe for omission:

Apastrophe for possession:

Commas in a list:

What do you need to include in a setting description?

- past tense
- First person
- senses - see, touch, hear, taste
- spag features

Review and Improve

Describe the Chocolate Room to a family member.

Can they draw a picture from your description?

What would you include in your own Chocolate Room if you were to make it?

