One day, a little blue fish asked him for one of his shiny scales. Rainbow Fish was angry, and told the little blue fish to get away from him. From then on, no one wanted anything to do with the Rainbow Fish.
The octopus told Rainbow Fish to give a scale to each of the other fish, so that he would learn to be happy.
Out in the deep blue sea, a beautiful fish lived. His scales were every shade of blue and green and purple, with sparkling silver scales.
Rainbow Fish was sad that nobody was admiring his dazzling, shimmering scales. He was the loneliest fish in the entire ocean.
The Rainbow Fish shared his scales with all the other fish in the ocean. The more he gave away, the more delighted he became. When he had just one scale left, he played with all his fish friends.
The other fish admired his beauty. They called him Rainbow Fish.
Then he gave the little blue fish a tiny scale. As he watched him swimming about with the new scale, a peculiar feeling came over him.
The Rainbow Fish found the octopus' cave, but at first couldn't see anything. Then suddenly, the octopus emerged from the darkness.
